Updated October 2011

I have made this listing during the past few years, after many and varied readings, visiting a great deal of buildings and talking to quite a few experts on this topic. Its only aim is to serve as a basic inventory of the stained glass windows preserved in Spain until the 18th century, as well as helping those who wish to study on this field. I am very aware of its unfinished character and the need to keep revising it permanently. Any information which may contribute to its improvement will certainly be appreciated (fcpcrv@gmail.com).
